

KGB Operational File – AGENT ORANGE

To those of us whose profession involved recruiting and running foreign spies, there are many objective indicators that President Trump is at the very least a witting collaborator of Russian president Vladimir Putin and the Russian Foreign Intelligence Service (SVR, formerly the KGB First Chief Directorate). You don't have to be a spook to observe that diehard KGB man Putin clearly has something on Trump. Old case officer Putin even handles Trump personally, in plain sight, with one-on-one agent meetings. Since Trump is uncontrollable and equipped with the attention span of a squirrel, he is not likely a classic controlled agent of the Russian intelligence service. He would never be willing or able to follow basic rules of tradecraft or operational security. Given Trump's tendency to exaggerate and hyperbolize, any intelligence reports produced by this compulsive liar could not be trusted to be accurate. Trump is more likely an "agent of influence," someone who uses his prominent position to influence policy or public opinion to the benefit of the foreign country that secretly controls or has leverage over him.

An American president under the control of our historic enemy, an enemy that poses an existential threat to our very survival? It's the stuff of unbelievable spy thrillers, and yet it may actually be true. A quick review of Trump's major foreign and domestic policy decisions to date reveals an agenda that is almost completely aligned with Putin's, and completely contrary to America's national security interests. Coincidence?

Rather than cite examples to back up this claim, I thought it would be more illuminating - and entertaining -- to share my vision of what the KGB's operational file on Donald Trump would actually look like. The CIA opens and maintains files on Russian assets, and KGB does the same thing with its American assets. This fictionalized slightly satirical and open-source research-based version of what I believe the Trump KGB file consists of would have been opened when he first appeared on the KGB's radar in the 1970s. (I'll use the term KGB instead of SVR since this would have begun as a KGB operation and deep down, bless his malevolent heart, Putin will always be a KGB man.) This KGB operational file will demonstrate how the hostile Soviet (and then Russian) intelligence service would have spotted, assessed, developed, and possibly recruited Trump as an agent of influence. The KGB assessment of Trump will include a personality profile and discussion of his vulnerabilities, while the developmental phase will show how Russia may have exploited those vulnerabilities to leverage control over Trump in the event he ever rose to a position of power.

The Russians take a long-term approach to espionage operations, and they are known for their patience when it comes to developing sleeper cells or agents of influence within the United States. This KGB file will also touch on how the Russians influenced the American presidential election in order to weaken America and the NATO alliance by placing their agent of influence into the most powerful position on the planet. Trump won the election by fewer than one hundred thousand votes in three key Electoral College states; this probably resulted from no more than a good weekend's work for a prolific Russian troll farm. Even Trump was surprised he won. The only person on Earth who did not appear shocked by Trump's inconceivable victory was Trump's Svengali, Vladimir Putin.

An important point to keep in mind is that Russian meddling in the American electoral process and contact with the Trump campaign – the subject of the Mueller investigation – is a “covert action” (CA) campaign, wholly separate from the more sensitive, compartmented agent of influence operation that would have begun decades ago. The Russians (just like the Americans) would run those two operations separately and it’s entirely possible that Trump had no advance knowledge of the Russians’ CA campaign to influence the election in his favor. He had no need to know. My understanding is the Mueller investigation focused only on the CA campaign. I assume and hope there is a separate FBI foreign counterintelligence (FCI) investigation into whether Trump is a Russian agent of influence.

If Putin and the Russian intelligence service -- who did influence the election – do indeed continue to exercise control over an American president, this in my view represents the most successful intelligence operation in modern history, if not all time.

Biographic Data

Name: Donald John Trump

Date of birth: 14 June 1946

Place of birth: Queens, New York, United States of America

Citizenship: United States

Ethnicity: German and Scottish*

*According to intoxicated Oxford University genealogy professor who attended recent Russian embassy national day reception in London, Trump is Old English surname meaning gold-speckled turd peddler. Unclear whether gold-speckled refers to turd, or peddler, or both.

Height: 6'1"*

*He falsely claims he is 6'3"

Weight: 255 lbs*

*He falsely claims he weighs 239 lbs

Profession: Con man, reality television star, president of United States

Political affiliation: Republican (present), Democrat (past)

Spouse: Ivana Trump (1977-1992), Marla Maples (1993-1999), Melania Trump (2005-2020*)

*KGB estimate

Military service: None. As young man, wealthy Trump dodged American draft during Vietnam War by offering to pay doctor* to falsify medical report claiming Trump had bone spurs. This enabled Trump to avoid mandatory military service and remain in New York. Trump said dating in New York and avoiding STDs was "like Vietnam, sort of. It is my personal Vietnam. I feel like a great and very brave soldier." To make point, he compared vaginas to landmines.

*Trump refused to pay doctor.

Awards:

Order of Lenin

Personality Profile

Based on years of direct and indirect input, KGB psychiatrists conclude Agent Orange not only suffers from classic narcissistic personality disorder, but he is also more severe malignant narcissist with occasional psychotic and delusional episodes. According to capitalist New York Times, "Malignant narcissists are grandiose, self-centered, oversensitive to criticism, and unable to feel empathy for others. They mask deep insecurities with inflated self-image. Malignant narcissists are also susceptible to paranoia and aggression, and exhibit attributes of the antisocial personality, including absence of moral or ethical judgment. Political leaders with this personality are able to take control because their narcissism is expressed in unjustified but inflated confidence in themselves and conviction that they know what world needs. They also express their aggression in cruel and sadistic behavior against their enemies: whoever does not submit to them or at least pretend to love them."

Our professional assessment is that Agent Orange matches 100 percent of criteria for malignant narcissism. In fact, KGB psychiatrists have never encountered more perfect malignant narcissist specimen. Fyodor Dostoyevsky beautifully described Russian soul, but in our professional opinion, Agent Orange was born without soul, Russian or otherwise. He has no discernible conscience or interest in anyone other than self. There is no evidence anyone truly enjoys company of Agent Orange, including current trophy wife Melania; he has no real friends since he is in perpetual state of disagreeability.

KGB assessment is shared by enemy American psychiatrists who belong to organization called Duty to Warn. This group of American psychiatrists concluded Agent Orange is unfit to serve as president of United States due to mental illness. Other prominent global personalities who are believed to have been malignant narcissists include Usama Bin Laden, Adolf Hitler, and Josef Stalin (may he rest in eternal peace).

Agent Orange Operational History

1977: Agent Orange first came to attention of Czechoslovak secret service when he married twenty-eight-year-old Czechoslovak model Ivana Zelníčková. Brotherly Czechoslovak service shared this information with KGB and facilitated exit visa for Ivana so she could live in decadent West. Czechoslovak secret service regularly monitored activities of Agent Orange and Ivana through mutual acquaintances in New York and shared intelligence take with KGB. KGB opened file.

Preliminary KGB assessment of Agent Orange was that he was someone who could rise to position of power and was worthy of further cultivation. He often spoke to wife Ivana of career in politics. Impulsive and dishonest Agent Orange was not initially assessed as controlled agent material, but someone who was easily manipulated through flattery, money, and kompromat. KGB would remain alert to opportunities to obtain compromising information about Agent Orange's illegal or immoral activities, which KGB could later threaten to disclose in order to exert leverage and influence Agent Orange behavior.

As Agent Orange appeared to be on successful financial path, KGB would continue to monitor Agent Orange activity in future while adopting patient wait and see approach.

1986: KGB First Chief Directorate extensively discussed operational risks and potential rewards and made decision to initiate direct contact with Agent Orange. Soviet Ambassador Comrade Yuri Dubinin, under direction of KGB, sought out and met Agent Orange in New York to discuss building gaudy Trump Tower in Moscow, across street from Kremlin. Comment: Soviet government would never permit this to happen but dangled prospect of profitable Kremlin-adjacent Trump Tower for many years to stroke Agent Orange ego and string him along. Dubinin also flattered Agent Orange by telling him Trump Tower was first tall building he see upon arrival in New York. Agent Orange responded like starving Moscow street dog feasting upon delicious discarded portion of chicken Kiev.

1987: KGB-run Intourist office contacted Agent Orange with "good news" about Trump Tower project in Moscow and arranged Agent

СЕКРЕТНО

Orange first trip to Soviet Union for continued direct assessment and development as possible future agent of influence. (Note: KGB dangling of Trump Tower Moscow project has incentivized Agent Orange cooperation for thirty years.)

4 July 1987: Agent Orange made first trip to Moscow and Leningrad, with discreet visa assistance from KGB First Chief Directorate head, Gen. Vladimir Alexandrovych Kryuchkov. KGB was focused on priority mission to recruit more American spies, to counter nuclear-happy American cowboy president Ronald Reagan. KGB put Agent Orange in technically monitored Lenin Suite of National Hotel for purposes of gaining kompromat. KGB-controlled hosts spent considerable amounts of time and money developing relationship with Agent Orange during trip, and also discussed areas of agreement on shared worldview. For example, KGB hosts suggested to Agent Orange that America was being taken advantage of by allies and world was laughing at America. Agent Orange nodded enthusiastically in agreement.

Agent Orange returned to New York following masterful KGB-organized trip, and immediately spent almost one hundred thousand dollars for newspaper advertisements critical of America's expensive alliances. Full-page ads appearing in New York Times, Washington Post, and Boston Globe also complained that world is laughing at America.

Agent Orange became convinced after much ego stroking by KGB assets that he had potential to become president of United States.

KGB validated increasingly prominent Agent Orange as operational target since he could someday rise to position of power atop American government hierarchy. KGB authorized funding for future operational and developmental activity designed to bring Agent Orange more fully under KGB control.

1980s: Details of timing are sketchy, but longtime advisor to Agent Orange and known sexual deviant and Nixon tattoo aficionado, Roger Stone, introduced Agent Orange to honorary KGB colonel Paul Manafort, devoted friend of Mother Russia.

1990s: Agent Orange real estate and casino empires crumbled and he sought financing from traditional American sources. Coldly rational American banks refused to invest in anything related to known con man Agent Orange. Agent Orange then turned to "nontraditional" sources of financing. At end of Cold War, many Russian oligarchs who looted wealth of former Soviet Union were in search of money laundering opportunities in decadent West. Most suitable money laundering mechanisms are casinos and real estate, which happen to be specialties of Agent Orange. Proven business failure Agent Orange was desperate in need of cash infusion, and Russian oligarchs and other organized crime figures equally desperately sought to invest their cash with Western criminal partners. Deutsche Bank was frequently used as willing middleman.

СОБЕРШЕНО

KGB now had solid kompromat on Agent Orange because he enriched himself through illegal money laundering activities in collaboration with Russian organized crime figures.

November 2012: Agent Orange applied for trademark "Make America Great Again" in immediate wake of Obama reelection. (Note: Original version was "Make America Great Again for White Man" but slogan too big to fit on Chinese-made American baseball hat.)

November 2013: Thanks to concerted efforts of network of prominent KGB-loyal citizens, Agent Orange traveled to Moscow for Miss Universe pageant. He openly discussed plans to run for president of United States with Russian contacts, who collaborated with KGB. Soon thereafter, fascist American eavesdropping organization NSA recorded KGB conversations about Russian plans to support Agent Orange efforts to become US president. During next scheduled agent meeting, Comrade Colonel and Case Officer (C/O) Putin will counsel Agent Orange to stop lying so blatantly about fact he spent night in Moscow during beauty pageant, since that could lead thinking people to suspect Agent Orange has something to hide.

As planned, KGB successfully obtained kompromat on Agent Orange during trip to Moscow for Miss Universe pageant. While at Ritz Carlton Hotel in Moscow, Agent Orange requested Golden Shower cabaret show, on same bed in presidential suite where President Obama and wife previously spent night. Comment: Agent Orange is obsessed with former president Obama. Hidden audio/video device recorded Agent Orange mumbling to self while reading People magazine "Most Popular Americans" issue on hotel suite golden toilet: "Obama is everything I'm not. I hate him."

KGB is in possession of videotape of Agent Orange enjoying Golden Shower performance, but there was no second act. Unfortunately, graceful KGB-controlled prostitute was unable to perform state duties on Agent Orange because of melancholy and depression brought on by fact that his tiny hooey conjured up repressed memory of poisonous mushroom picked by late father Volodya in Siberian birch forest. Comment: Agent Orange is no Rasputin.

Before Agent Orange left Moscow, KGB discreetly informed him that it was holding disturbing kompromat from his Moscow trip and from money laundering activities in 1990s. KGB allowed Agent Orange to view Golden Shower video. Agent Orange remained uncharacteristically silent, indicating he understood significance of kompromat. KGB informed Agent Orange it would be in touch.

Top KGB leadership and Comrade President Putin in complete agreement that KGB will discreetly support Agent Orange effort to become president of United States.

2014: Traitorous Russian spy revealed KGB plan to support future Agent Orange presidential bid, but fortunately no one in Western intelligence circles believed this reliable information since Agent Orange was viewed as nothing more than self-serving con man, not true presidential contender. Comment: Equally fortunate for Mother Russia, American intelligence agencies and policymakers have incomprehensible but chronic tendency to ignore valuable intelligence collected by loyal operatives of imperialist CIA.

Brilliant forward-leaning Kremlin leader Comrade President Vladimir Putin approved KGB covert action operation to engage in information warfare against American electorate to secretly weaponize social media in order to sow discord and to influence useful American idiots to vote against dogmatic anti-Russian Hillary Clinton, and in favor of clown-like Agent Orange. Agent Orange was not informed of this separate, compartmented CA operation. KGB would run secret American election operation through Internet Research Agency (aka "Trolls from Olgino") in St. Petersburg. Tactics included planting fake news stories in American social media outlets Facebook and Twitter, and with useful idiot television networks like Fox News. Secret influence campaign focused efforts on key Electoral College battleground states. Internet Research Agency generated ten million Tweets emanating from 3400 different false accounts and also bought and created hundreds of fake Facebook pages. Objective of KGB cyber operation was to undermine confidence in American democracy and cleverly support and increase chances of electoral victory for presidential candidate most likely to weaken America in long term: Agent Orange.

СЕКРЕТНО

16 June 2015: Agent Orange announced he will run for president and said Mexican immigrants are rapists. Comment: KGB pleased with Agent Orange natural instincts for dividing citizens and stoking fears and hatreds in order to promote self politically. Agent Orange rhetoric reminiscent of remarks by former president of Yugoslavia, Slobodan Milošević, who often falsely claimed ethnic Albanians were raping Serb women. These incendiary proclamations made subsequent ethnic cleansing of Kosovo more palatable for average Serb.

June–July 2016: Together with esteemed colleagues at Russian military intelligence (GRU) cyber unit, KGB successfully hacked computers of Democratic National Committee (DNC). GRU operative, pretending to be Romanian and using online code name Guccifer 2.0, shared DNC emails with long-time KGB collaborators Julian Assange and WikiLeaks. Assange in turn shared stolen information with Agent Orange lickspittle Roger Stone, who promptly bragged publicly about Russian hack and his ties to Assange and WikiLeaks. Assange was fulfilling earlier promise to Paul Manafort of WikiLeaks support for Agent Orange presidential campaign. Promise was made during secret meetings with Colonel Manafort in embassy of Ecuador in London. Later, Roger Stone asked Assange to also find Clinton emails in order to harm Democrats, and Assange passed request on to Guccifer 2.0. GRU/KGB complied and provided Assange with more hacked emails, which were released publicly. This leak of emails led to firing of DNC chairwoman Debbie Wasserman Schultz during Democratic convention, successfully weakening Clinton campaign effort.

Agent Orange directed his campaign to collude with KGB-controlled WikiLeaks. During campaign rally, Agent Orange said, "Russia, if you're listening, I hope you're able to find the 30,000 [Hillary Clinton] emails that are missing." That same night, KGB and GRU attempted to hack into personal email server of anti-Russian babushka Hillary Clinton.

Comment: Problem with KGB relying on known narcissistic sexual deviants like Roger Stone, Julian Assange, and Agent Orange is this kind of asset does not adhere to strict norms of operational security, making it difficult if not impossible for KGB to hide hand of Mother Russia. That said, in KGB experience, average Americans not suffering from severe psychological or sexual dysfunctions are not typically susceptible to KGB development and recruitment.

9 June 2016: Trump Tower meeting between Donald Trump Jr., Jared Kushner, Paul Manafort, and KGB access agent Natalia Veselnitskaya (and others). Agent Orange knew of and approved this meeting in advance since he believed Veselnitskaya would provide incriminating information about Hillary Clinton. True purpose of meeting – and of prior Agent Orange authorized meeting between Michael Flynn and Russian ambassador -- was to secure agreement from Agent Orange team to ease Magnitsky Act sanctions against Russia, since American sanctions cause serious financial harm to Kremlin's ability to operate and vacation globally. Unfortunately, Veselnitskaya and others involved in arranging Trump Tower meeting used sloppy tradecraft and meeting became public relations nightmare for all concerned. Official reprimand has been placed in personnel file of Comrade Veselnitskaya and she has been demoted to rank of major.

In separate operation, KGB attempted to convince Agent Orange confidante and friend of Mother Russia, hairless American Carter Page, to accept valuable stake in Russian oil giant Rosneft in exchange for lifting of sanctions. In addition to brokering sanctions relief, purpose of operation was to develop additional kompromat on future president Agent Orange, who would personally profit from Carter Page's Rosneft-for-sanctions deal.

8 November 2016: Thanks in large part to KGB operation to influence American election process, Agent Orange was elected president of United States. Agent Orange was truly astonished that he won. Comrade President Putin announced publicly that he was not surprised by Agent Orange's victory, which KGB had predicted early on, despite fact that all American polls showed Russophobe Hillary Clinton holding unsurmountable lead. KGB headquarters hosted all-night celebration party to commemorate most successful intelligence operation in KGB (if not world) history.

During celebration party, head of KGB First Chief Directorate reminded colleagues that Agent Orange's continued efforts to harm America's historic and strategic alliances began when he took out full-page newspaper advertisements after first trip to Soviet Union. Agent Orange also remains obsessed with notion that other countries are laughing at America. In fact, other countries were not laughing at America until Agent Orange became president. KGB celebrants in attendance raised glasses of vodka and shouted "Za zdorovye!" in ecstatic show of appreciation for irony of this statement.

Because of historic success and relatively low cost of American election cyber campaign, KGB will continue to influence election campaigns to undermine democracy in America and in countries allied with America. Fact that easily influenced supporters of Agent Orange either believe or do not care that reports of Russian meddling are "fake news" serve to emphasize importance of KGB remaining on this successful operational path.

10 May 2017: During televised Oval Office meeting with Russian ambassador Sergey Kislyak and Russian foreign minister Sergey Lavrov, Agent Orange said he receives "great intel." To prove point, he then discussed secret intelligence report from Zionist Israeli liaison service about ISIS plans to make laptop bombs. Agent Orange also told our comrades that FBI director James Comey (whom he fired previous day) was "real nut job" who would no longer pressure Agent Orange about his ties to Russia.

17 July 2017: During one-on-one agent meeting at G20 Summit in Hamburg, C/O Comrade Colonel Putin scolded Agent Orange for his dangerously poor operational security. Discussing sensitive intelligence matters or covert action operations (such as firing of FBI director) in front of Russian foreign minister, Russian ambassador, and television cameras, while in Oval Office, is greatest lapse in operational judgment ever witnessed by C/O Putin. Agent Orange promised to do better next time, adding he will be best agent Russia ever ran. C/O Putin, aware that Agent Orange is vain and uncontrollable, spent time stroking Agent Orange's fragile ego before reviewing communications and exfiltration plans in event Mueller investigation uncovers truth. Agent Orange seemed pleased to hear that KGB has identified luxury dacha on muddy banks of Volga River, with gold-plated toilet and reliable DSL internet connection (with WiFi) for Agent Orange use during possible exile in Mother Russia. Dacha has been christened "Mar-A-Leningrad." Next one-on-one agent meeting between C/O Putin and Agent Orange scheduled for 16 July 2018 during Helsinki summit.

16 July 2018: Agent Orange seemed agitated during one-on-one meeting with Comrade C/O Putin during Helsinki summit, asking if there was not some less conspicuous way for them to meet. He complained about "fake news" reports speculating on significance of these private one-on-one meetings. C/O Putin commended Agent Orange on his unprecedented awareness of basics of operational security. However, C/O Putin also reminded Agent Orange that he is president of United States and unfortunately these plain view, private meetings with no Americans present during summits are only viable communications option. Unless robotic Germans, sneaky Finns, or dastardly NSA was recording meetings, no one other than C/O Putin would know what was discussed.

C/O Putin encouraged Agent Orange to continue to refer to media as "enemy of people" and he also shared pointers for how to make pesky journalist disappear. In addition, in order to deflect personal responsibility, Agent Orange should suggest to gullible American public that nefarious globalist George Soros, one of founding members (and original drummer) of Elders of Zion, is cleverly pulling strings behind scenes and is directly responsible for majority of problems facing America today. Agent Orange said he understood, but had arms crossed, bear-hugging self, Russian style, clear body language indicating he was uncomfortable and not telling truth. C/O Putin suggested Agent Orange not do this in front of American television cameras when lying and also reprimanded Agent Orange about his recent public behavior. Specifically, Agent Orange should never again wink at C/O Putin in front of television cameras during summit meetings.

Next one-on-one agent meeting between C/O Putin and Agent Orange scheduled for November-December 2018 G20 Summit in Argentina.

Moving on, C/O Putin reviewed operational plan for coming year, specifically tasking Agent Orange to do the following:

- Continue efforts to weaken NATO alliance; threaten US withdrawal.

СОБЕРШЕНО
СЕКРЕТНО

- Continue to sow racial, ethnic, and class division inside United States. This worked for Serb cousin Slobodan Milošević in Yugoslavia, and it will work for Agent Orange.
- Continue trade wars with traditional American trading partners, to harm American economy.
- Continue to publicly side with global despots like leaders of North Korea, Saudi Arabia, Egypt, and Philippines, while denigrating traditional American allies and trading partners.
- Continue efforts to undermine sacred American institutions such as Supreme Court, whose support Agent Orange will likely need if and when he tries to pardon himself.
- Continue efforts to erode public faith and harm morale in other essential American institutions such as heinous CIA and witch-hunting FBI.
- Continue to support Russian foreign policy objectives in Syria, Ukraine, and Western Europe. Immediately withdraw all US troops from Syria.
- Continue efforts to extract America from traditional global leadership role. Withdrawal from Iran nuclear deal, Trans-Pacific Partnership, and Paris climate agreement is good start.
- Withdraw United States from intermediate-range nuclear forces treaty (INF) to alarm America's European allies, further weaken NATO, let Russia off hook for recent INF violations, and free up Russia to further develop nuclear missiles to threaten Europe and United States.
- To summarize, just be yourself.
